Jason Nellis

Product & GTM executive and speaker

jasonnellis.com · hello@jasonnellis.com · Cannes, France

IFA Berlin 2026

Keynotes and moderated panels from a product and go-to-market executive in media and creator tech.

Started at Hulu in 2008, in the early days of streaming. Co-founded Packagd, acquired by Meta in 2019, where he helped launch Facebook Live Shopping. Chief product officer at Jogg and SuperBam, and interim CEO at SuperBam. Now Head of Innovation & GTM at BoltOS, based near Cannes.

2008	2	25+	5×
Building in media since	Companies built and sold	Live Shopping partners	BoltOS pipeline in 6 months

Talks

Your AI strategy is probably theater

Most organizations have an AI strategy that's really a press release. How to tell real leverage from theater.

Keynote · 45–60 min · Executive and product audiences

The media cycle no one believes is a cycle

Every wave looks like a revolution from the inside, until you've lived through three of them.

Keynote · 45–60 min · Media and strategy audiences

Why some creators break through and most don't

After 100+ Building Value conversations, the same few patterns keep showing up.

Keynote · 45–60 min · Creator platforms and brands

Formats

Keynote, 45–60 min · Moderator or MC · Panel, 30–45 min · Fireside chat, 20–40 min · Workshop · Podcast

Track record

- Co-founded Packagd, acquired by Meta in 2019
- CPO, then interim CEO, at SuperBam
- 50+ VidCon interviews hosted on Meta's Super platform
- Helped launch Facebook Live Shopping at Meta
- Guest lecturer: Northwestern, Howard, Georgetown
- Hosts Building Value, 100+ conversations with operators, founders and creators

> "My best work happens where a product has to start paying for itself."

Book a talk: hello@jasonnellis.com

Cannes, France · Europe and North America